Descriptive statistics on shame and guilt

Age

Highest education level

Gender

What language(s) do you usually think in?

In which language do you express emotions most comfortably?

Do you regularly use English in your daily life?

Which language would you consider that you use the most?

What was the primary language of study in your school?

English naming of emotions for Shame situations

'A woman was sitting barefoot in her house when male guests entered.' Name the emotion the woman would feel in this situation:

'A friend sent Tom a very unfunny joke on messenger, and Tom did not answer'. Name the emotion Tom would feel in this situation:

'A healthy man used the accessible stall because all other stalls in the mall restroom were occupied. As he was leaving, he saw a line and began to limp.' Name the emotion the man would feel in this situation:

'A boy complains, saying, 'We don't have anything now,' but his grandfather tells him that during the Great Depression, people stood in breadlines just to survive.' Name the emotion the boy would feel in this situation:

'A 30-year-old Alex recently broke up with her partner and quit her job without another offer lined up. Additionally, she gained weight while recovering from a prior injury.' Name the emotion Alex would feel in this situation:

'John hates being late and gets frustrated when others stall. After yelling at his family for taking too long, he arrives at a surprise party for him—his wife had been delaying on purpose.' Name the emotion John would feel in this situation:

'Jenna was trying her best to stay composed, but pushed past her capacity, she broke down, crying uncontrollably.' Name the emotion Jenna would feel in this situation:

'A man remembered how, in 8th grade, he tricked a mentally disabled girl into paying him $10 a day to 'date' her, avoided her, denied it to others, and after eight days left her in tears—spending the $80 on fast food and games.' Name the emotion the man would feel in this situation:

English naming of emotions for Guilt situations

'An athlete representing his country at the Olympics lost in the semifinal match, his coach and supporters are now upset.' Name the emotion the athlete would feel:

'A woman went to Syria with her husband, knowing it was a war zone. Her children grew up in hunger, fear, and constant danger.' Name the emotion the woman would feel in this situation:

'After work, a man watched football instead of taking care of household chores, his crying children and his exhausted wife. Only when the wife left, he realised the burden she carried.' Name the emotion the man would feel in this situation:

'A young mother had an 11-month-old daughter who fell ill. She attempted to treat her at home, delaying a visit to the doctor, which resulted in her daughter losing her hearing.' Name the emotion the mother would feel in this situation:

'A man's partner got sick but he underestimated the medical condition and went to Thanksgiving at his parents. His partner passed away from complications and he missed their final moments.' Name the emotion the man would feel in this situation:

'Woman was babysitting and left a baby sitting upright beside the sink, thinking baby could hold himself up for just two seconds. While woman turned to grab a towel, baby fell and hit his head on the tap, leaving a swollen bruise for days.' Name the emotion the woman would feel in this situation:

Q128 - 'Emily used the free samples at the makeup store, even though she had no intention of buying anything.' Name the emotion Emily would feel in this situation:

'Lisa had to put down her pet due to medical complications and she decided to accompany her pet to support it emotionally. However, her emotions were very intense during the procedure, which might have disturbed the animal at its final moments.' Name the emotion Lisa would feel in this situation:

Intensity for Guilt emotions in English

Rate the intensity of the emotion (from 1 to 5):

62 Responses

Intensity for Shame emotions in English

Rate the intensity of the emotion (from 1 to 5):

English naming for emotion of Joy for English

'A senior high school student opens his email and sees an acceptance letter from his dream university.' Name the emotion he would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for anger

'Jeff was walking along the street when someone pushed him in a dirty puddle so his clothes got splashed with mud.' Name the emotion Jeff would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for gratitude

'Maria's friend helped her move all of her belongings into her new apartment.' Name the emotion Maria would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for fear

'Walking alone in the dark, a girl hears some sudden footsteps behind her.' Name the emotion the girl would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for disappointment

'A teenage girl had been looking forward to attend the concert of her favourite artist for months, but it got canceled at the last minute.'

Name the emotion the girl would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for pride

'After months of hard work, a team successfully completed their project and was praised by their boss.' Name the emotion the team would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for disgust

'A man found leftover food that he forgot about a week ago. The container reeks and the food appears green and liquidy.' Name the emotion the man would feel in this situation:

English naming emotion for relief

'A woman finally received positive feedback on the presentation she was very anxious about preparing.' Name the emotion the woman would feel in this situation:

